ZACK AND TREVOR ALSPACH THIRD AND FOURTH AT SHENANDOAH

(Shenandoah, VA) Team Full Throttle NASCAR Driver Development racers Zack and Trevor Alspach faced an evening full of obstacles at Shenandoah Speedway in Virginia last Saturday night. They arrived late and missed the first round of practice, and then spent the final round of practice (which doubled as your qualifying session) breaking in new tires. They started eleventh and eighteenth in a competitive 24 car field and rallied for six and ninth overall (third and fourth in Semi-Pro) in the combined feature event.

“Oh it was a tough night,” 16-year old Zack said. “We definitely had our work cut out for us. Missing practice definitely didn’t help but having to break in tires during qualifying just killed our starting positions. The cars don’t handle well on new tires. We both had a great race though. We were fast. It’s just tough to pass these guys. We like running this track a lot. We’ll be back here Memorial Day Weekend to run again before we head for Charlotte to run the Summer Shootout at Lowe’s Motor Speedway.”
